PEPIN, ROBERTS AS CHAIRMEN

National unity is put to committee

One year mandate for all-star cast

OTTAWA (CP) — Prime Minister Trudeau urged English-Canadians Tuesday to be more accommodating to the French-speaking minority and then announced formation of a special group to study national unity. Opposition spokesmen, speaking during a two-day debate on national unity immediately criticized Trudeau for continuing to rely too heavily on bilingualism as a solution to separatist sentiments. Economic disparities also caused discontent with the current federalist system, they said.

The Progressive Conservative party, in an attempt to give Parliament a greater role in the unity question, urged establishment of a joint Commonsense committee to study the economic, social and constitutional measures needed to promote harmony.

The special group announced by Trudeau will study all aspects affecting national unity, he said, but it will not include persons currently elected to Parliament.

The group will seek public views on issues which contribute to disunity and counsel the government on ways to increase national harmony. Trudeau said in a packed Commons chamber.

The group will have a one-year mandate and will be chaired jointly by Jean-Luc Pepin, former Liberal cabinet minister and chairman of the anti-inflation board, and John Roberts, a former Progressive Conservative premier of Ontario.

Trudeau's speech stressed the necessity of English-Canadians to accept the French fact and to provide more services in French to the minorities outside Quebec.

English-Canadians will have to be more accommodating to French-Canadians if the country is to remain intact, he said.

"Accommodations like sharing more power with French-Canadians in business, professions and private organizations.

"Like greater willingness on the part of provincial governments, and local communities and school boards, to provide for French-speaking minorities."

Conservative Leader Joe Clark responded to Trudeau's urgings by saying the government is placing too much emphasis on language questions.

National disunity also occurs from regional disparities, unemployment and Western alienation, Clark said, adding these economic problems should be the number one priority of the government.

Alcan pipeline decision lauded

VANCOUVER (CP) — The National Energy Board's (NEB) selection of the Alaska Highway route for a northern gas pipeline drew praise from several areas Tuesday.

Dr. Ian McTaggart-Cowan, a biologist at the University of British Columbia, said the NEB made a "wise judgment" choosing the Foothills Pipeline Ltd. route along the Alaska Highway, thus avoiding the Mackenzie Valley and the proposed route along the Arctic shoreline.

"That's where all the wildlife migration routes are and it really was not a very good idea," he said. "You have to look a long way downstream with these projects."

McTaggart-Cowan was a member of the environmental boards of Foothills and Canadian Arctic Gas Pipeline Ltd., the two companies submitting the competing proposals.

Gary Gallon, executive director of the Scientific Pollution and Environmental Control Society (SPEC), said the NEB recommendation came as a pleasant surprise.

"We think this proposal is the least worst alternative because it protects the Mackenzie Delta and ecosystem from having a pipeline running up and down the whole river," he said.

Gallon said the Foothills route uses corridors that have already been disturbed by development.

"One pipeline company executive told the Mackenzie inquiry that a Mackenzie pipeline would just be like a string across a football field," said Gallon. "But an Indian also said it would be like stabbing a person with a thin knife—the whole body would be destroyed. And we agree totally with that statement."

He said he thinks the NEB was tremendously influenced by the militancy of the Northwest Territories' Indian movement and sidestepped their land claim by choosing the Foothills route which involves Alaska natives, who have already settled with the United States, and the less-organized Yukon Indians.

Dr. Andrew Thompson, chairman of the Canadian Arctic Resources Committee, said his group is pleased with the decision.

"We were a little surprised because we hadn't expected it," he said. "We were nervous that the decision might go the other way."

GLOVER VS. PACIFIC NORTHERN

Board rules firing unjust

VANCOUVER (CP) — The British Columbia Labor Relations Board has ruled that a former Terrace garage mechanic is not entitled to reinstatement in his job although it agreed he was terminated in contravention of the B.C. Labor Code.

Board vice-chairman John Baigent said in a written decision Monday that Pacific Northern Gas Ltd. would have ended employee Fred Glover's job regardless of an organizing drive by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in which he was active.

Baigent ruled, however, that the company acted with undue haste in informing Glover that he could accept a lower paid position in Burns Lake, or be terminated, and that it did so because of the organizing drive.

He ruled that Glover is entitled to six weeks pay rather than the month's pay granted by the company and that the company must re-offer Glover a job, although not necessarily at the same rate of pay.

Baigent said he could not accept the argument of company officials that their knowledge of Glover's involvement in union activities did not influence their decision to subcontract the work he previously did.

QUICK DECISION

He noted that a telex sent to Glover informing him that the work would be done elsewhere required him to reply within 3½ hours whether he would accept a junior position or termination.

"When pressed for a reason for the rush, the employer testified that it wished to resolve the issue prior to the commencement of negotiations with the association of employees whose agreement with the employer expired April 1," the written decision said.

"However, other evidence rebuts that explanation. Negotiations with the employer in its third telex to Glover readily accepted his request for two weeks to think things over."

Baigent suggested that by the quick termination of Glover, the company wanted the sub-contracting to be an accomplished fact before the bargaining unit was certified or prevented certification of the bargaining unit altogether by removing one of its chief organizers.

Baigent noted that the renovations in 1976 to the Canadian Cellulose pulp mill in Prince Rupert, B.C., meant that Pacific Northern lost a large market and, when rate increases it requested were not approved by the B.C. Energy Commission, the company had to look for ways of reducing costs.

He said the company subcontracted its service work for legitimate economic considerations and that the decision to terminate Glover would have occurred regardless of the union organizing drive.

Fender benders on the weekend

Officers on the Terrace RCMP traffic patrol reported a total of 99 tickets issued under the motor vehicle act, many for impaired driving, during the long holiday weekend.

Four accidents and a hit and run damage complaint were handled by police this weekend. There were no fatalities.

Deborah Haines of Terrace was heading towards town on Old Lakelse Lake Road at 9:30 p.m. when she lost control of her vehicle, police say. It rolled over on its side into the ditch. Deborah was taken to hospital with facial cuts. Her passenger, Teresa Haines, suffered a sprained foot. Damage to the vehicle is estimated at $600.

Michael McNaughton of Terrace was charged with driving without due care and attention after losing control of his car early Saturday morning. The single-car accident took place at Munroe and Davis.

McNaughton came away with a broken foot. His car sustained $200 damage.

Cleland Oakes submitted a hit and run complaint on July 2. His car, parked in the Co-op parking lot, received approximately $100 in damages.

Velma Delnes was charged with illegal parking under section 180 of the Motor Vehicle Act after an accident between her vehicle and one driven by Mark Ljungh in the Safeway parking lot. There was a total of $700 damage done to both vehicles. No one was hurt in the incident.

An accident between Paul Johnson and Robert Kerman, Both of Terrace, netted a total of $400 in damages to the two vehicles.

The accident took place at Lakelse Avenue and Clinton at 6:35 p.m., July 2. Johnson was charged with making an unsafe left turn. No one was hurt.

THEATRE COURSE

Emphasis on improvisation

By JOANNE AMES
Herald staff writer

David Thomson wants to show youngsters that "there is a lot more to theatre than just being handed a script and reading lines."

So the course he will offer at the Northwest Summer School of the Arts will concentrate on improvisation, making up plays or skits from your imagination.

David wants participants in the course to "develop their imaginations and their observation powers."

"While the basic aim is to develop powers of observation and imagination, I want to stress that the course is designed so the kids will have a lot of fun."

"This course is designed to go on from," says David. "It is to create an interest in theatre, beginning. If they (the participants) want to go on, good. If not...well, that's okay."

The course will offer an introduction to movement for the stage, to be taught by Pat Scott. She has just arrived in Terrace from California, where she has worked with several professional dance companies.

David will teach improvisation, theatre games, and acting exercises in the course. He has completed one year as a theatre major at the University of Victoria and has taken part in several Little Theatre productions in the past.

A third person is still to be hired to complete the teaching team. David says they may have someone who can teach "some stagecraft."

The people teaching the course are being paid by a student grant. The course is sponsored by the Terrace Little Theatre. They held a similar course last summer which was very successful.

David admits that this will be "a learning experience for us (the teachers) as well. We haven't had a chance to work with groups before."

The course will be run on "an informal basis, as far as a teacher-student kind of relationship."

"But our days will be very well planned, and we will stick to a schedule," he says. The base for activities will be the Terrace Little Theatre building on Kalum. "We'll work outside as much as weather allows us to."

"This will be a chance for kids to make some very good friends. It will also benefit all of them in terms of personal growth. Theatre is very helpful in the development of the whole person."

Anyone between the ages of 10 and 16 who is interested in taking the course, or parents of those between 10 and 16, may enroll for any of the three sections being offered.

Each section runs for two weeks. The fee is ten dollars per child. Classes run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each weekday, with a break for lunch.

Sections run July 11 to 22, July 25 to August 5, and August 8 to 19. Contact David Thomson for further information.

Herbicide working?

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP) — The herbicide 2,4-D applied June 21 to Eurasian milfoil in Skaha Lake seems to be killing the weeds, but it will be another three weeks before the effectiveness will be fully determined, says Ken Lozoway, biologist in charge of the herbicide program.

Lozoway said today the leaves curling and stems sagging are the first sign that the weed is dying.

OR FACE "JAIL" SENTENCE

Wear your birthday buttons

By BILL MARLES
for the Herald

Better be wearing your "Happy Birthday Terrace" button this summer or they'll put you in jail.

Don't worry, the RCMP won't be involved. And this new law will probably only be in effect during Terrace's Birthday Celebration from July 29 to August 7. Also the jail will only be a makeshift one at Emerson and Lakelse.

Perhaps if you promise to mend your ways, they'll let you out after 20 years.

For those lucky enough to stay out of prison, there will be 24 events to enjoy during the birthday party. Ted Taylor, spokesman for the 50th anniversary committee, says the schedule is now in the process of being finalized.

There's going to be a pioneers' reunion, the Elk's Parade, and the famous RCMP Musical Ride on August 5th and 6th.

The Barkerville revue, a vaudeville group, has researched Terrace's history. Based on information they have accumulated, the revue will be putting on a performance at the arena. Starting with the Canyon City Soccer Tournament July 29, there will be a number of athletic events. A softball and baseball tournament, a hike, and a stock car race are planned.

The 50th anniversary committee started meeting back in the winter months. Lately the 12 member group has been getting together twice a week on Tuesday and Friday mornings.

The celebration this summer is to commemorate the incorporation of Terrace as a village December 23, 1927.

A complete schedule of events will be forthcoming in the near future.

Thornhill fire damages two homes

The Thornhill Volunteer Fire Department was called out to the scene of a double home fire on Merkley Avenue in Thornhill.

The fire appeared to have started in a mobile home owned by Dan Dollemore, and to have spread to the newly-completed neighboring house.

The trailer was totally destroyed, while the home, owned by Darrel Gurnsey, was heavily damaged.

No one was hurt in the blaze.

The call was first turned in to the Terrace Department at 2:15 a.m. It was immediately passed on to the Thornhill Volunteer Department.

The privately-owned Thornhill Fire Department truck and pump went out on the call.

Thornhill chief Jim Piper, as well as department members Cal Albright, Steve Lake, Dave Gale, and Bill Delaronde went out. Terrace department members Murray Hamer,

Jim Lynch, and Ron Fleming and fire chief Cliff Best went to the assistance of the Thornhill department. Co-operation between the two departments was

Major offer made

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Interior Labor Relations Association, representing forest companies, made a major contract offer on pensions to the International Woodworkers of America, said John Todman, ILRA president.

Informed sources said the offer could help negotiations for a contract for all British Columbia forest workers. Union negotiators are expected to meet Thursday with Northern Interior employers in Prince George, B.C. to discuss pensions.

The coast pension plan now covers IWA workers in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, while the two Interior associations have their own pension plans. The southern plan came into effect in 1973.

Sources also said that if the common pension plan is achieved, the union will drop its proposal demand for one master agreement for B.C. woodworkers and probably its resistance to a two-year contract.

AWAIT REPLY Following Tuesday's talks, Todman said in an interview that the ILRA is waiting for a union response to the offer.

tered "fantastic" by Thornhill's information officer, Bill Delaronde.

A member of the local detachment of the R.C.M.P. was at the scene keeping spectators out of the way. The department extends their thanks to him for the good job he did.

Some difficulty was encountered with traffic on the run to the fire. Vehicles would not pull over to allow the fire truck to pass.

Motorists are reminded once more that they should pull over when they see a fire truck coming to allow it to get to its destination unimpeded.

Detonator caps
no blast of joy

It is so easy to editorialize about crime that the exercise can seem trite or obvious and the message obscured. Why bother attacking a crime wave, a run of break and entries, or a series of robberies when, of course, everybody's against them? All you can say just reinforces the common perception.

But recently, this area was hit by a crime that is at once so bafflingly stupid and potentially dangerous that it demands comment.

Last week, a large cache of explosives was taken from a Twinriver Timber's powder shack. The booty included 675 delays, two boxes of number six caps, and 200 electric caps ... enough to do plenty of harm to a lot of people.

The thieves apparently saw some joy to be gained from their indiscretion. Before leaving the scene, they set off 200 caps. But police have still not ascertained the location of the remainder of the stolen goods. Because a crime was involved, it's unlikely the caps will be put in a safe place. More than likely, they've been abandoned somewhere so that the thieves need not worry about evidence on their persons.

But there lies the problem. Anyone can stumble onto the devices. Detonators, though often just small aluminum tubes less than 1½ inches long, are extremely harmful. They have to be to fulfill their purpose: exploding dynamite or other blasting explosive. A terrific shock is necessary and the cap produces this.

For example, one blasting cap is capable of blowing a hole clear through a one-sixteenth inch steel plate or one-half inch of plywood; a cap placed under a shoe will blow the toe off; a cap set off in a pail of water will shatter the pail. A blasting cap explodes with such force that bits of metal will scatter in all directions and imbed themselves in iron a foot away. Imagine what happens when a blasting cap explodes in the hand or near the face.

Although they come from a factory in clearly marked packages each containing 100 caps, individual caps are too small for identification marking. Children, attracted by the shiny tubes and not knowing what they are, may attempt to dig out the explosive with a nail or pin. The resulting blast can blind or mutilate.

Older children may realize that a blasting cap is an explosive, but they do not understand how dangerous it is. They think it will give a harmless bang like a firecracker. Too late they learn that the "firecracker" can be lethal.

On page two of today's newspaper, we have provided a photograph of some explosive devices. Acquaint your children with their appearance. And give them this message in case they find an explosive or cap: Don't touch it and report its location at once to the police.

Slow hiring hurts wildlife branchBy SHEILA PETERS
Smithers Interior News

Once again the tortoise-like hiring methods of the civil service have made themselves evident in this region. Now only do we have to wait 10 months for replacement conservation officers (CO), but the invidious sloth has ambled into the forestry service as well.

An agrologist, needed to collect the information necessary for range management, is on the books, but won't be here until the fall at the earliest. Meanwhile a man from Williams Lake spends one-third of his time doing what he can for the region.

Smithers has been without a CO to enforce fish and wildlife regulations for 10 months now. Regional staff with other responsibilities has had to fill the gap. In this case, it's not even acquisition of new staff holding things up - this is replacement for an existing position.

The CO in Prince Rupert resigned and it will take some time to fill his position. In the meantime CO's from Terrace (100 miles) and Hazelton (180 miles) will be used to fill the breach.

The hiring methods used are laborious to say the least; each position must be advertised throughout the province. Applicants are then screened, one is chosen and after a 30-day appeal period starts work. That's close to three months tied up, even when things are operating at the peak of efficiency.

But that doesn't explain why it takes two months to get around to sending out the job advertisement, and another few months before interviews start. Such delays obviously happened when looking for a replacement for the Smithers CO.

As soon as an employee gives notice, the advertisements should go out and interim people should be brought in during the three-month processing.

Of course a great deal of money is saved by not paying salaries - but it is a method of saving money that not only leaves the resource, be it wildlife or grazing land, without the protection the government itself has agreed they need by establishing the position in the first place.

But it is also unfair to the civil servants who must try to do more than one job, with the result that none of them are done as well as they should be.

Any CO already swamped with work in his own area would undoubtedly become demoralized as well as annoyed when called out of bed to drive 180 miles to handle a bear complaint.

An agrologist attempting to keep track of the grazing capacity of the vast ranges around Williams Lake could only be frustrated at having to spend one-third of his time in District B. So little is known about the grazing capacity of this region, it would be a challenge for a full-time agrologist.

But to put the same demands on an area supposed to be served by 10 CO's when left with only six, or to decide a full-time agrologist and technician are needed and yet continue to let one man spend one-third of his time gathering information piecemeal, is ridiculous.

And it is a problem which seems to confront field staff only; there's no shortage of staff in Victoria. No shortages of new jobs either.

The latest is the establishment of a special office which issues numbers to field personnel before they fly anywhere: without the number, no bills will be processed. Permission from one's own department is no longer enough - yet another level of bureaucracy has been established, undoubtedly to save money.

Gun control act explained by MP

Dear Sir:

I have noted with interest your Editorial dated June 9th, in which you argue the need for effective gun control legislation in our country.

The case of such legislation is, I will agree with you, very clear. What I fail to understand, however, is why in your editorial you did not point out that at this very time there is government legislation before the House of Commons which addresses itself to this important issue.

The gun control provisions of Bill C-51 have three main objectives. These are to reduce the access that potentially dangerous users have to firearms; to discourage the use of guns in criminal activities; and to promote responsible gun ownership.

Bill C-51 has incorporated many of the suggestions and amendments which were put forward to Bill C-83 (the firearms control legislation which was introduced in the last session of the House of Commons), and I feel is a good, responsible piece of legislation which takes into account the needs and concerns of Canadians in all parts of our country.

You state in your editorial "Why must we wait for yet another tragedy to be convinced?" I would submit to you that the federal government is not waiting - it is presenting legislation along the very lines that you have proposed.

Trusting that you may pay recognition to this fact in future editorials on the subject, I remain,

Iona Campagnolo

NEUROPEPTIDES
Future drugs may improve memory

By RICHARD SALTUS

Better thinking through chemistry is an old idea but scientists may be on the edge of a new era with the prospect of using drugs to improve learning, memory, attention and perhaps even creativity.

Experiments using the drugs on animals have shown significant improvement in learning a certain task and retaining it.

The chemical road to that elusive state, creativity, is being followed more quietly and less formally. With their goals so hard to describe in scientific terms and their drugs so controversial, the seekers of imagination are leery of talking too much.

One of them is physical chemist, Dr. Alexander T. Shulgin. Shulgin works as a part-time drug designer for the government and pharmaceutical companies.

He has tinkered with hallucinogens, removing their mind-distorting effects. What's left is a series of compounds said to have various interesting effects.

In some cases they may enrich the flow of ideas.

Dr. Arnold Mandell, a leading investigator of psychotropic drugs, described a test of a Shulgin drug done some years ago. The experiment involved college students who wrote compositions after taking a placebo (inactive pill), an amphetamine or a creativity drug.

"On the placebo they wrote two or three pages," said Mandell. "On the amphetamine they wrote eight or 10 pages, but it was boring and repetitive. On the Shulgin compound they wrote eight or 10 pages very rich in content."

Mandell is testing similar compounds on animals at the University of California, San Diego, where he is co-chairman of the department of psychiatry.

"I still don't know," frankly, if they all ought to be used just for research and then locked up," he says. "There are dangers in the chemical world no less than in the atomic world."

Opposition Comment
Government sets an ugly precedentBy DAVE BARRETT Leader of the Official Opposition

VICTORIA - A small group of people has been singled out by the provincial government and stripped of basic civil rights enjoyed by all other British Columbians.

When a government circumvents its own laws, and willfully tramples on the rights of one group, one can only wonder which other group will be next.

An act currently before the Legislature bluntly "terminates" the Faculty Association of Notre Dame University, an association freely established through a democratic decision of its 24 members.

The association had been certified, in accordance with the laws of British Columbia, as the bargaining agent for faculty members. To join together to bargain with an employer is a basic right guaranteed to all British Columbians by the B.C. Labour Code.

But the bill now before the Legislature summarily extinguishes that right.

It wasn't very long ago that the members of this government were criss-crossing the province, grasping the lapel of anyone within reach and shouting "freedom!"

Not one member of the government is shouting now. Not one member of the government has the courage to stand up to McGeer or Premier Bennett and defend that freedom.

OTTAWA OFFBEAT

Mirabel airport just a sick joke

by Richard Jackson

Ottawa - They said it couldn't be done, and man, were they right!

Not even for the $600 million-plus that it so far has cost could the federal government and its accident-prone Transport Department build an airport 36 miles and an hour's bus ride north of Montreal.

And not to laugh that it's a joke on Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, Eastern Ontario or other sections of the East whose citizens are unfortunate enough to have to use it.

It's a sick joke on all Canadians who helped pay for it and now carry its heavy and so far $50 million annual deficit.

The supposed new super airport was plunked down there in the marsh and rock wilderness of the Laurentian foothills, an $80 cab ride from Ottawa, $30 from Montreal, to please former Transport Minister, now Senator, Jean Marchand and other Quebec members of Prime Minister Trudeau's cabinet.

They made no secret of wanting, indeed even demanding it for Quebec, although two alternate locations made much more transport sense.

One was south of Montreal and easier of access from Eastern Ontario, was ruled out because jets using it would fly not only through Quebec, but Ontario and New York State air space.

Was the ghost of coming separation even haunting the feds then?

The other, and by far most acceptable location, was at Kingston, equidistant from Montreal, Toronto and Ottawa.

Putting it there would have made unnecessary both Mirabel and the now-suspended Pickering.

But that's the local or regional angle to the folly of it all.

The national involvement of taxpayers everywhere is the scandalous cost - like the Olympics another Quebec extravaganza - and its astounding accelerated deterioration.

Built on terrain that is a geological freak mix of Canadian Shield hard rock and mushy marsh and muskeg, sections of the 12,000 foot runways are cracking up under the varying stresses.

So there it is with its 215 foot tower, a 24-hour automated cargo operation and a quarter mile long terminal capable of handling an annual 12 million passengers - at a current $31.84 a head cost with the loss running $15 for each one of them.

Eleven trans-Atlantic carriers can't see it, and those which do are crying the losing blues.

So are the passengers who come in from Europe on late flights and find the last buses already departed for Ottawa and the cabbies asking $80 for the trip.

Unctuous Otto Lang, the far-travelled Transport Minister, is upset because Boston's Logan Airport is advertising that some-bound Canadians can reach Montreal faster and with less hassle through Boston than Mirabel.

And happy news for the West (perhaps later for the Maritimes).

Lang is talking of routing more domestic flights through Mirabel!

You'll all just love that.

Meanwhile, Conservative MP Ken Hurlburt of Lethbridge, suggests that Otto Lang in simple justice should be the first to try it in that "Air Otto" jet aboard which he racked up more than $700,000 worth of personal travel.

Expos nip Cubs for 7th in a row

CHICAGO (AP) — Andre Dawson hit two home runs and a single while driving in four runs and Tony Perez knocked in three runs Tuesday to lead Montreal past Chicago Cubs 9-8 for the Expos' seventh win in a row.

Dawson hit a solo home run in the third inning, singled in the sixth and hit his 10th homer with a man aboard in the eighth inning of the National League baseball game. Perez hit a two-run single in the second after the Expos had scored two unearned runs in the first inning.

Stan Bahnsen, 3-2, was the winner but left the game after working six innings in 32-degree heat. Tom Walker relieved but Will McEnaney had to get Walker out of trouble in the seventh and earned his third save.

The loss was the seventh in the last eight starts for the skidding Cubs, who cut a 6-2 Montreal lead to two runs with a pair in the sixth on triples by Jerry Morales and Steve Ontiveros and a sacrifice fly by Steve Swisher.

With one out in the seventh, Greg Gross walked and Bill Buckner singled him to third. McEnaney replaced Walker and got Bobby Murcer to fly out. Morales singled across a run but Manny Trillo fled out.

Dave Cash opened the game with a single off loser Mike Krukow, 7-6. Krukow retired the next two batters and Perez hit an infield pop which Trillo dropped for an error as Cash scored. Singles by Gary Carter and Warren Cromartie accounted for another run.

Singles by Wayne Garrett and Ellis Valentine and a walk to Cash filled the bases before Perez singled for a 4-0 lead.

The Cubs picked up a run in the second on singles by Trillo, Ontiveros and Ivan DeJesus. They added an unearned run in the fifth when Gross doubled and scored on a throwing error by Perez.

Dawson's two homers gave him three for the series. He also hit one in the first game of Monday's doubleheader sweep. It was the first time Dawson hit two home runs in one game.

The seven consecutive victories are one short of the Expos' record. They won eight in a row in 1971 and repeated in 1974. Their longest winning strak last year was four.

The Expos added a run in the ninth on a walk, and a triple by Perez. Perez reached base six times—once on an error, twice on walks and three hits.

In the ninth inning, McEnaney retired pinch-hitter Gene Cline and George Mitterwald on fly balls before yielding successive singles to Murcer, Morales and Trillo, the latter driving in Murcer. Ontiveros doubled into the leftfield corner, sending Morales and Trillo to the plate but Swisher, hitting .182, was allowed to bat and bounced to short to end the game.

In other National League games, St. Louis Cardinals beat Pittsburgh Pirates 7-3, Philadelphia Phillies bombed New York Mets 12-1 and Cincinnati Reds downed Atlanta Braves 9-3.

In the American League, New York Yankees edged Cleveland Indians 5-4, Minnesota Twins beat Milwaukee Brewers 3-2, Kansas City Royals downed Texas Rangers 6-4, Baltimore Orioles swept a doubleheader from Detroit Tigers, 6-5 and 2-1, California Angels shut out Oakland A's 6-0 and Chicago White Sox beat Seattle Mariners 4-1.

Mike Tyson belted the first grand slam home run of his major league career to back the nine-hit pitching of Bob Forsch and lead the Cardinals to victory over Pittsburgh.

Jay Johnstone knocked in four runs with two homers and a single. Mike Schmidt stroked his 24th homer and Tim McCarver socked a basesloaded homer as the Phillies routed New York. Ed Armbrister and Dave Concepcion drilled two-run homers and Dan Driessen and George Foster had solo blasts, leading Cincinnati past Atlanta.

Two-out doubles by Chris Chambliss and Reggie Jackson in the seventh inning produced the winning run as the Yankees extended their two-season domination of Cleveland to 12 consecutive games.

Dave Goltz hurled a four-hitter and Butch Wynegar singled home Bob Gorinski with the winning run in the eighth inning, leading Minnesota to victory over the Brewers. Frank White, Al Cowens and Hal McRae cracked home runs off Texas ace right-hander Bert Blyleven, giving the Royals their win over the Rangers.

Ken Singleton singled to right field to score Doug DeCinces with the winning run in the 12th inning to give the Orioles the win over Detroit in the second game.

Dressed for the occasion, Reds' playing manager Jack Richard (catching) confers with relief pitcher Gino Lamele in the fifth inning of last night's game.

Reds center fielder Dave Hamilton reaches for the bag at third while Colts third baseman Guy Farkvan waits for ball. Colts won 9-4.

Colts upset Reds

With only three players in proper uniform, the Terrace Reds looked like anything but league leaders last night as they went down a 9-4 defeat at the hands of their little brothers, the Terrace Colts.

The Reds slipped behind early when a walk, an error, a double and a single put the Colts up 3-0 in the top of the first inning.

Second baseman Will Harvey made it on with a walk and was advanced to second when Reds catcher Jack Richard dropped a third strike on Colts pitcher Bob Strider.

Third baseman Guy Farkvan doubled to score the two-runners, then scored himself on catcher Myron Crown single.

Reds pitcher Don McColl then fanned two batters to retire the sides leaving Crown stranded.

Colts added another run in the third and Reds replied with their first tally of the game in the bottom half of that inning.

It was center fielder David Hamilton who put the Reds on the scoreboard when he singled and stole second to be brought home by Gary L'Estrange's double.

A double by Lorrie Arnold-Smith and a single by Barry Hait gave the Reds two runs to the Colts' one in the next inning, then in the fifth, both teams picked up a single point.

In the top of the seventh, Colts scrambled for three more runs on singles by Sheridan, Farkvan and Crown.

L'Estrange managed another hit off Sheridan in the last of the seventh but it led nowhere as the three other batters who faced the Colts' hurler failed to make it to first.

Sheridan struck out only five Reds' batters, but he scattered their hits and forced them to pop up.

After striking out eight, walking five and giving up four hits, McColl was replaced in the fourth by Gino Lamele. Lamele struck out five, walked three and was tagged for eight hits.

Both Reds pitcher had difficulty controlling the ball, causing them to fall behind most of the batters they faced. Lamele especially had trouble keeping his fast ball from sailing up and away from the predominately right-handed Colts lineup.

Sheridan was steady on the mound for Colts, staying on top of the Reds batters by giving them plenty to swing at, but not much to hit.

The two Terrace teams clash again Thursday at Kerr-Rotary Park.

Meanwhile, the threat of the Reds collapsing still remains. Although enough players showed up last night to play the game, the team had no bench strength and little enthusiasm.

Still conspicuous by his absence was Red L'Estrange owner and former manager of the club.

In addition to playing behind the plate, Jack Richard took over coaching duties assisted by Bud Brown. Although no one is saying much, the demise of the team is a distinct possibility as the players shuffle along from game to game.

Brill wins again

STOCKHOLM (CP) — Debbie Brill of Victoria won the women's high jump at an international track and field meet Tuesday with a leap of 1.84 metres.

Joni Huntley of the U.S. was second with a jump of 1.80 metres and Anette Taanmander of Sweden was third at the same height but with more misses.

Greg Joy of Vancouver was third in the men's high jump with a height of 2.21 metres. Dwight Stones of the U.S. was first with a leap of 2.28 metres followed by countryman Rory Kolinek at 2.24.

76-yard run gives Als win

MONTREAL (CP) — Punt returner Dickie Harris dashed for a 76-yard touchdown with seven seconds remaining in the third quarter to lead Montreal Alouettes to a 27-19 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats in an Eastern Football Conference pre-season game Tuesday night.

Harris found an opening at mid-field and broke down the right side to break open a close contest as the Alouettes recorded their second victory in four exhibition games.

Peter Dalla Riva grabbed a Joe Barnes pass and Ian Mofford combined with Sonny Wade for the other Montreal touchdowns while Don Sweet booted two field goals and added three converts to complete the Montreal scoring.

Hamilton quarterback Jimmy Jones connected on a 39-yard scoring play to Mike Harris in the third quarter to close a 10-point Montreal halftime lead to 20-17 before the Alouettes' Harris scored his TD.

Dave Shaw scored the other Hamilton touchdown on a punt return while place-kicker Nick Jambrosic booted a convert and field goal, David Pegg had a convert and a fourth-quarter single and punter Ken Clark booted a 62-yard single.

The loss brought Hamilton's pre-season record to 2-2.

Discipline is key to Rapp's coaching

VANCOUVER CP

Vic Rapp is a no-nonsense football coach who has staked his future with British Columbia Lions on his ability to control the entire team, both on and off the field.

Rapp, appointed in January to replace the fired Cal Murphy, brought down his discipline edict emphatically when he suspended Canadian Wayne Smith, a former all-star defensive end, early in training camp for insubordination.

Smith had been tardy in reporting to training camp following the Canadian Football league all-star game June 4 in Toronto. Rapp said he didn't like Smith's attitude and eventually the hulking defensive end was traded to Toronto Argonauts.

"How quick we come together as a team will determine just how far we go this season," Rapp said Tuesday in an interview. "This is a tough conference and all the teams, with the exception of Calgary, have much more experience than us."

"What we accomplish this season will depend on our togetherness. I'm not much of a predictor, but I think we've improved offensively and we still need some help on defence."

FOUND TAGGE

Rapp, an assistant for five years in Edmonton under coach Ray Jauch, figured he needed a quarterback when he came here and now he thinks he's found one in Jerry Tagge, a 26-year-old veteran of three seasons with Green Bay Packers of the National Football League.

Tagge was successful as a collegian with the powerful Nebraska team, but he didn't produce in Green Bay under Bart Starr's leadership.

"Tagge took the pressure well in exhibition games," said Rapp. "He doesn't panic and he stays in the pocket."

"It looks like he reads defences well and is a student of the game. He definitely has some possibilities."

Tagge played more than Gary Keithley, another NFL refugee, and holdover John Sciarra as the Lions split their four exhibition games against Western Football Conference teams, defeating Saskatchewan Roughriders and Edmonton Eskimos, and losing to Winnipeg Blue Bombers and Calgary Stampeders.

A rib injury knocked Tagge out of the Edmonton game July 1, but Rapp said Tagge would be ready to play when the Lions open their regular-season schedule here July 12, against Calgary.

Sciarra, the top rookie in the CFL last season, has not played much at quarterback. He's caught in a fight with Keithley for the backup quarterback job and rookie speedster Leon Bright for the flanker position.

Rapp said earlier he wanted more speed at the receiver positions and he appears to have it with Bright, rookie Richard Appleby at tight end and a healthy Jim Young at split end.

Bright, a dropout from Florida State, has shown some good moves running back kickoffs, too.

The strength of the offence appears to be running back Mike Strickland who gained more than 1,000 yards rushing last season. Strickland gained 13 yard 130 yards in the Winnipeg exhibition game June 28, to show Rapp his lack of size—185 pounds—is not a detriment to the team.

Rapp wants a big running back in the lineup and Jim Harrison, a 240-pounder with NFL EXPERIENCE AT San Diego and Chicago, has been pushing veteran Lou Harris, who has gained 16 pounds to 215.

The Lions will be missing at least four veteran players from last year's tough defensive team which kept the club in many games on the way to a fourth-place finish in the WFC.

HAWK CHANGES

Orr deskman, Pulford coach?

TORONTO (CP) — The Toronto Star says Bob Pulford will be the new general manager/coach of Chicago Black Hawks. Bobby Orr will step into the administrative end of the operations and Tommy Ivan, Hawks' GM since 1954 will become a vice-president of the National Hockey League club.

Sports editor Jim Proudfoot, in today's edition of The Star, says the new setup will be announced at a news conference in Chicago on Wednesday.

Pulford, former star with Toronto Maple Leafs who quit recently in Los Angeles after five successful seasons coaching the Kings, has been rumored headed for Chicago.

Orr's future as the game's outstanding player has been jeopardized by recurring knee injuries. The latest on his left knee—the sixth—is said hold little hope for his return to the game this season, if ever.

Ivan's future as GM of the Hawks has been tenuous in recent years as the club continued to spiral out of contention. Long-time friend and Chicago coach Billy Reay was sacked last season in what was seen as the start of a complete housecleaning by owner Bill Wirtz.

WHITE A QUESTION

Proudfoot says the only remaining question concerns the fate of Bill White, veteran defensive standout who stepped in to Reay's job midway in the season. White apparently will be offered the coaching job at Dallas of the Central League, left vacant when Roger Neilson took the Leaf coaching job.

Chicago had its worst season in two decades during 1976-77. Attendance fell off alarmingly over the last two years. They finished 12th over all in the combined NHL standings and the Hawks were swept out in the first round.

Pulford, 41, didn't let it be known his reasons for leaving Los Angeles. But it was apparent he resented the interference of owner Jack Kent Cooke in the day-to-day team affairs. When he began negotiating for a new position, he made it known he was interested in the managerial end of the operations as well as coaching.

Chicago, apparently, is willing to accommodate Pulford's wishes.

Kearns signs

VANCOUVER (CP) — Veteran defenceman Dennis Kearns has signed a new two-year agreement with Vancouver Canucks, the National Hockey League team, announced Tuesday. The six-year veteran set a club record for defencemen last season with 55 assists and 60 points. Two of his five goals came on; an effective performer.

Kearns, 31, played for Team Canada in the 1977 World hockey championships in Vienna and was one of the more effective skaters for Canada, where his positional play paid off on the big ice surface.

Kearns was represented in his negotiations with general manager Jake Milford of the Canucks by Toronto lawyer Alan Eagleson.

The native of Kingston, Ont., joined the Canucks in 1971 after being taken in the inter-league draft from Chicago Black Hawks.

by LINDA TURNER

Hello Racing Fans;

We have completed another day of racing. They were all good races with the exception of a couple of accidents that weren't that serious.

First of all, Al Rasko no.15 who has been nicknamed 'Infield Al', tried to go the other way for a change and got a little bit to close to the wall. Also no.4 Larry Alger and no.2 Joe Softly had a bit of fender bending.

Secondly, Danny McBryan had the track hot again by breaking his own track record of 20.5 seconds to 20 seconds flat.

Your individual Horoscope

Frances Drake

FOR WEDNESDAY,
JULY 6, 1977

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Mostly favorable influences. Do not let pressures or tensions hamper steady, well-tempered action. Especially favored: research, written matters, personal relationships.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) Above-average opportunities indicated, but you may have to seek out some for yourself. It will be possible now to obtain cooperation you could not get in the past.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) Make a dry run for future reference in vital areas, but with system and consistency, not sporadically or in haste. Shun needless argument.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) A potentially fine day. Through sheer force of personality, you can break down opposition and get what you want.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) Personal relationships under some restrictions. Don't discuss secret plans with anyone, or you'll have reason for regret later.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Good Mercury influences stimulate your skills and capabilities. You should feel enthusiastic about the way things go now.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Skepticism could defeat the fully charged action this day deserves. Believe in yourself and in your goals — and keep forging ahead.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23) Stellar influences now favor novel pursuits, imaginative revitalizing of all interests. Display your talents in marketable areas.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) Avoid being led astray by those who are heedless of consequences, careless of responsibilities. You will face more distractions than you think, so keep up your guard.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You rarely imitate, preferring to produce in your own way. However, this day will require more attention to others' methods and know-how.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Express your ideas and opinions discreetly but firmly. Don't leave stones unturned which may have gems beneath. A generally good day — if you cooperate.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) A conservative and prudent attitude will keep you from going overboard through misguided enthusiasm — a tendency now. Be especially cautious in romantic matters.

YOU BORN TODAY are highly conventional and ultra-conservative; also idealistic and humanitarian in your impulses — could not only succeed, but be eminently happy in any career where you could be of service to your fellowmen, such as medicine, institutional or any other kind of welfare work. Teaching is also an excellent field for you but, here, you will have to learn to be more patient with those less gifted than yourself. If so inclined, you could take up writing — with marked success. Traits to curb: jealousy and hypersensitivity. Birthdate of: John Paul Jones, Amer. naval officer.

Today's Cryptoquip clue: C equals A

The Cryptoquip is a simple substitution cipher in which each letter used stands for another. If you think that X equals O, it will equal O throughout the puzzle. Single letters, short words, and words using an apostrophe can give you clues to locating vowels. Solution is accomplished by trial and error.

Dear Abby...

DEAR ABBY: Maybe you can tell me what's wrong with my husband. He sleeps in a room all by himself, saying he could never sleep with anyone. Yet he came from a family of 10 kids. They were poor as church mice, and you can't tell me HE had a room all to himself.

He says he's not hungry at mealtimes, so I eat with the kids. Then 10 minutes after we finish eating, he eats alone. He gets off work at 1:30 in the morning and stays up until 5 a.m. reading. Then he goes to sleep and gets up at 2 p.m., and all this time I am trying to keep five children under 8 years old quiet.

After nine years, I am getting used to it, but what do I tell my children when they say, "Other families do things together, why don't we?"

LONELY

DEAR LONELY: Your biggest problem is not what to tell the children, but to establish communications between your husband and his family. You are not actually living together. You are living parallel lives. Why? He is either sick or selfish. Only his doctor can tell you.

DEAR ABBY: About three weeks ago, all of our relatives and several of our friends received wedding invitations to a certain wedding in town. We received no invitation and felt put out, but said nothing, because you don't just call up people and ask them how come you weren't invited, do you?

Three days before the wedding, I got this tearful phone call from the bride, apologizing all over the place because she'd heard we didn't get an invitation.

She said we were on her guest list, and the invitation must have been "lost" in the mail. She begged us to come, but I hadn't shopped for a gift, and I had nothing to wear, so I declined. Many of our relatives said they thought we should have gone. I would like your opinion.

OVERLOOKED

DEAR OVERLOOKED: I think you should have attended. If you had not been wanted, the bride wouldn't have telephoned you personally. Your gift could have come later, and your attire would have been of little importance.

DEAR ABBY: I was recently wed to a wonderful man in all respects except one. He insists on keeping the pictures of all his previous girlfriends, and he has had quite a few. He has them all neatly mounted in a large picture album, which he insists on leaving on our coffee table, along with our wedding album.

When we have friends over, to be sure they don't miss it, he starts going through the albums, bragging about all the chicks he's had.

I voluntarily destroyed all the pictures I had of myself and previous acquaintances, and I think he should do the same.

He knows how I feel because I've mentioned it several times. He says I am being childish—that there is nothing wrong with recalling a few memories.

His keeping and showing that album hurts me deeply. How can I get him to stop, Abby? Should I destroy them myself and put an end to it?

HURT

DEAR HURT: No, but tell him that his recalling those memories hurts you deeply and to please put them out of sight. A married man who needs to brag about the "chicks" he's had is an insecure little boy whose "manhood" needs constant reassuring. He also has a touch of cruelty.

CONFIDENTIAL TO WORRIED IN WORTHINGTON, MINN.: You have sufficient reason to worry. Minnesota Statutes No. 609.342 says:

"Criminal sexual conduct in the first degree provides a 20-year prison sentence for sexual penetration with another person where the sex partner is 13 years of age and the defendant is more than three years older. If the sex partner is 13 to 16 years of age, and the defendant is more than two years older, the offense is in the third degree (No. 609.344), and the penalty is 10 years in prison. Consent to the act by the sex partner is NOT a defense."
